Scientists are making an effort to find out how our feelings are affected. How you feel is decided by many things, such as your personality (性格) and the actions of others. You may be surprised to know the weather can also affect your feelings.

People often say they feel good when it's sunny and sad when it's cloudy. In fact, sunlight makes us feel happy. When sunlight hits our skins, our bodies produce vitamin D (维生素 D). Vitamin D helps our bodies make a special chemical which affects our brains and makes us happy. For example, the winter in Sweden and Norway is long and dark with little sunlight, so many people there often feel sad. To help the people in these countries feel happier, special "sunrooms" are built for people to get "sunlight" for an hour or two!

The weather can affect our feelings in other ways as well. Rain can make people angry because being wet makes people unhappy. In the same way, hot weather can make people angry because people don't feel comfortable when feeling hot. As you can see, the weather can influence the chemicals which control our brains. Through these ways, the weather can affect our feelings. Sadly, while the weather can change us, we cannot change the weather.

- () 41 . Why does sunlight make us feel happy?
 A . Because sunlight hits our skins and we feel warm.
 B . Because people can get "sunlight" in special "sunrooms".
 C . Because vitamin D helps make a special chemical which affects our brains and makes us happy.
 D . Because vitamin D affects our brains and makes us happy.

- () 42 . What is the purpose of special "sunrooms" in Sweden and Norway?
 A . To help people feel better. B . To help people get warmer.
 C . To help people feel sad. D . To help people feel hot.

- () 43 . What kind of weather can make us angry according to the passage?
 A . On rainy and cloudy days. B . On windy and cloudy days.
 C . On windy and hot days. D . On rainy and hot days.

- () 44 . Which of the following is TRUE according to the passage?
 A . People often feel sad when it's cloudy.
 B . B . The winter in Sweden and Norway is warm and sunny.
 C . How we feel is decided by few things.
 D . D . We can also change the weather.

- () 45 . The passage mainly talks about _____.
 A . our personality can affect our feelings B . the weather can affect our feelings
 C . the actions of others can affect our feelings D . music can affect our feelings

阅读短文，回答问题。

I live in a large neighborhood. I have lived here since I was born. I have a lot of friends here. Mr. Wang is one of them. He is 85 years old. I enjoy visiting Mr. Wang because he tells me exciting stories about Hong Kong in the past. He also shows me old photos. Yesterday, I visited Mr. Wang after school. I asked him how long he had lived here. This is what he told me:

“I have lived in the neighborhood since 1993. Before I moved here, I lived in a small village called Pak Mong on Lantau Island. There were many people living in the village when I was young. These years, there are only a few families left. Most families moved to the city for work. I left the village in 1993, when my son moved to the city.

Pak Mong is an old village. There are watchtowers (瞭望塔) around the village. In the old days, soldiers used to stand in the watchtowers and keep guard (站岗). Here is a photo of my school. I went to that school a very long time ago. The school has been closed since 1985.

I enjoy going to the Kowloon Walled City Park, because it makes me think of my old village. I have visited the park three times since 2004. Would you and your family members like to go to the park with me next weekend?”

51 . How old is Mr. Wang?

52 . Were there more people in the village in 1993 than these years?

53 . When did Mr. Wang leave the village?

54 . How many times has Mr. Wang been to the Kowloon Walled City Park?

55 . What does Mr. Wang want to do next weekend?
