A father and his son were happy when they saw flowers everywhere and the sky full of colorful kites of all kinds. It was the 1 Festival in Weifang, Shandong. The son wanted to fly a kite, too. The father bought a kite for him.

The son began to fly the kite. Soon, his kite was high up in the sky. After a while, the son said, “Father, it seems that the string (绳子) is 2 the kite from flying higher. If we cut it, it will be free and fly even 3. Can we cut it?” The father cut the string off. The kite started to go higher. This made the little boy 4. But then, slowly, the boy saw that the kite began to 5. It soon fell to the ground. The son was surprised to see this. He asked his father, “I thought that 6 cutting the string, the kite would fly higher. 7 did it fall down?” The father explained, “The string was not stopping the kite from going higher, but was helping it 8 in the sky. Using the string, you helped the kite go up in the right direction. But when you cut the 9, it could no longer support the kite.”

We may sometimes feel like there are certain things that are holding us back and stopping us from growing. But 10, these might be the things that support us the most.

This year some students at White Cloud Primary School became the world's first kids to be “taught” by an electronic teacher. This electronic teacher is a computer-created head that appears, when needed, 31 on computer or phone screens. His name is Bill. Bill teaches a special program about environmental-friendly power 32 by the sun and wind. This program, started in 2005, used to be taught by human teachers.

Just like human teachers, Bill is able to 33 respond (回应) to the students' questions and opinions. Thanks to computer cameras, he is also able to see and react (反应) to students' 34 actions. For example, if a student smiles at Bill, he smiles back. This two-way exchange helps get the students' attention. 35, it allows the program developers to improve Bill's behavior and knowledge base (库) when needed.

The program has been a great 36 according to Smart Machines spokesman Robert Frost. “What is interesting to me is the children’s reaction to Bill. He really draws 37 attention.” Frost thinks kids don’t find the experience of being taught by smart machines as strange as older people because they 38 up in a time of computers and smartphones.

It is doubtful that human educators 39 their jobs in the future, because even the smartest computer programs can't guess and react to all the 40 situations. Bill's future might be as a "personal tutor (导师)", providing kids with one-on-one help for different subjects and topics.
